Growing Gardens Farm Assistant - Field and Program Specialist

Over the last 27 years, Growing Gardens has brought urban farming, gardening, nutrition education and produce donations to over 162,000 Boulder County residents.

We farm a total of 3 acres of vegetables and 2 acres of orchard crops, run three large greenhouses with an impressive nursery operation, and rotationally graze a small herd of dairy goats all in the heart of Boulder and Longmont, Colorado. We practice regenerative and ecologically sound growing methods and are constantly learning and evolving as land stewards. To see more about how we farm you can see our website here. We offer a variety of programs to get people of all ages, backgrounds, income levels, and abilities involved in growing and cooking their own food. These educational opportunities are paired with seed, plant start, and produce donations, as well as gardening space, to impart greater food security and hunger relief in our community.

The Farm Assistant plays an important role in farm production and assisting with farm programming on our Boulder Farm. This position will work closely with our Farm and Greenhouse Managers, and our community programs, including our Cultiva Youth Project, regular volunteer groups, and our Work Trade Program. The person we are seeking for this position enjoys working with the community, leading groups of teens and adults in outdoor work, growing food, and doing the physically demanding work of farming in all weather conditions, alongside a great team of skilled growers and educators.
